Accommodation

Finding affordable accommodation in Switzerland requires some planning. Prices vary based on season, location, and type of accommodation.

Seasonality

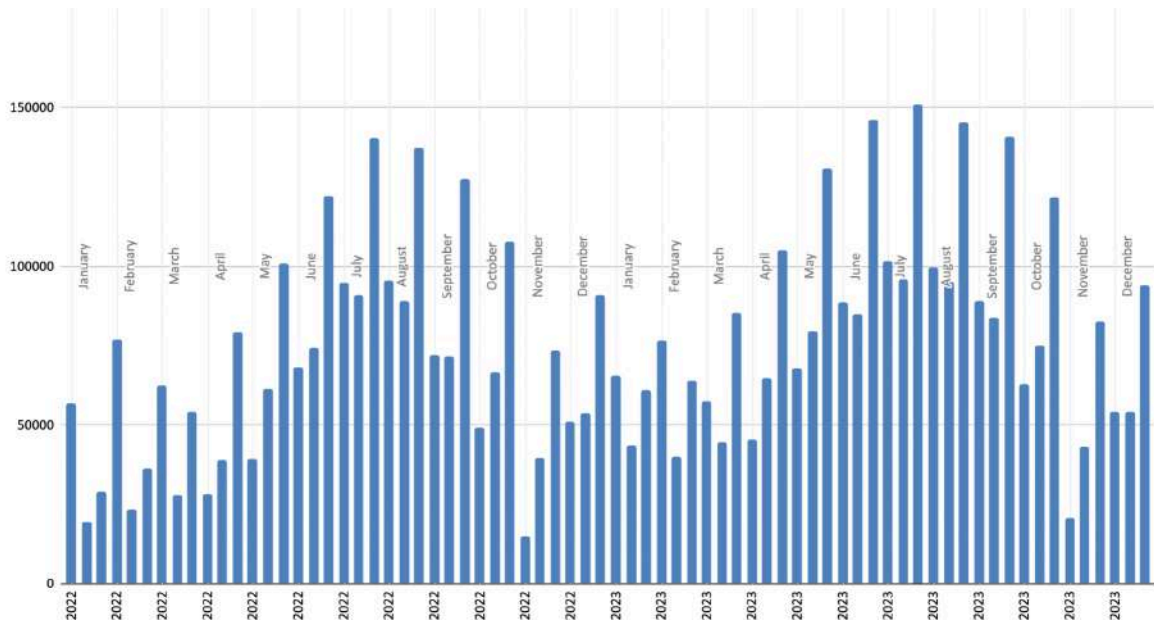

Chart: 2022/23 overnight stays in Lucerne, Interlaken, Grindelwald per month

 As you can see in the monthly bookings chart above, the quietest months are November and April.

As you probably know, prices fluctuate with the seasons. Winter (Jan-Feb) and summer (July-Aug) are peak seasons, while April-May and October-November are off-season and more budget-friendly.

The only challenge you face is that the weather is not great in April and early May, and often November can be quite gray and cold.

My Favorite Months

June and September are my favorite months. The weather is often fine, and the visitor numbers are considerably lower. This also means prices might be a bit lower.
